Rome

Rome is probably the most fascinating city in Europe, and perhaps the world. We cannot think of anywhere else that weaves the ancient and modern together in quite such a remarkable fashion.

Most destinations can comfortably offer a week’s sights. Rome could fill a lifetime. Every turn reveals yet another story, often illustrated on a monumental scale.

So many historic eras jostle for space, yet amongst it all the charmingly chaotic behaviour of its current residents takes front stage.

We have taken many groups of wheelchair users around Rome over the past 30 years, getting to know the city intimately. We are well placed to provide a vibrant week of exploration, carefully planned to lead you through the city’s sights in a gradually unfolding story taking in the ancient, renaissance, baroque, and recent history, not to mention taking advantage of its excellent cuisine by dining in a variety of enjoyable restaurants.
